Wildfowl 51

WWT believes that conservation must be based on a solid foundation of scientific knowledge. The 21st Century will undoubtedly bring new conservation challenges, and WWT's journal Wildfowl aims to publish the results of research needed to address these problems adequately. It is with great pleasure therefore that I present the 2000 edition of Wildfowl in which you will find a broad range of papers relevant to the conservation and management of waterbirds and the wetland habitats on which they depend.

My thanks go to all the authors who prepared and submitted material, as well as to the many referees for their valuable time and extremely constructive comments. Thanks also to David Chamberlain who assisted greatly with cover artwork.

Lastly, I owe a great debt of gratitude to the hard work, perseverance and professionalism of Clare Lee whose work as editorial assistant and co-ordinator was invaluable.

I very much hope you enjoy number 51.
