

Contents

Editorial	1
Letters from the host organisation and from sponsors	4
Review papers
Are dabbling ducks major players or merely noise in freshwater ecosystems? A European perspective, with references to population limitation and density dependence Johan Elmberg	9
Trends in numbers, distribution and movements
Measuring within-winter movement rates of Tufted Duck Aythya fuligula and Common Pochard A. ferina based on ring re-encounter data Fränzi Korner-Nievergelt, Josef Hofer, Annette Sauter & Lukas Jenni	24
Trends in the numbers of Coot Fulica atra and wildfowl Anatidae wintering in France, and their relationship with hunting activity at wetland sites Carol Fouque, Matthieu Guillemain & Vincent Schricke	42
The Goosander Mergus merganser population breeding in the Alps and its connections to the rest of Europe Verena Keller	60
Wintering ducks in the Czech Republic: changes in their population trends and distribution Zuzana Musilová, Petr Musil, Simona Poláková & Roman Fuchs	74
Habitat selection
An assessment of the importance of the Dombes region, France, for wintering wildfowl Jean-Yves Fournier, Carol Fouque & Pierre Defos du Rau	86

Habitat use and home range size of autumn staging radio-marked Teal Anas crecca at Ulvshale-Nyord, Denmark 100

Thomas Bregnballe, Uffe D. Andersen, Preben Clausen, Per A. Kjær & Anthony D. Fox

Escape distances from human pedestrians by staging waterbirds in a Danish wetland 115

Thomas Bregnballe, Kim Aaen & Anthony D. Fox

An experimental study of numerical and behavioural responses of spring staging dabbling ducks to human pedestrian disturbance 131

Thomas Bregnballe, Charlotte Speich, Anders Horsten & Anthony D. Fox

Responses of autumn staging waterbirds to wetland restoration and water levels in a Danish river delta 143

Thomas Bregnballe, Ole Amstrup & Mogens Bak

Feeding ecology

Kleptoparasitism as an important feeding strategy for migrating Wigeon Anas penelope 158

Thomas Eske Holm & Preben Clausen

Intestinal response to prolonged fasting and subsequent feeding in Mallard 167

Anas platyrhynchos

Sylvie Geiger, Christel Wagner, Jean-Hervé Lignot, Yvon Le Maho & Jean-Patrice Robin

Breeding ecology

Long-term changes in duck inter-specific nest parasitism in South Bohemia, 176

Czech Republic

Petr Musil & Šárka Neužilová

Hunting and population management

Consequences of massive bird releases for hunting purposes: Mallard 184

Anas platyrhynchos in the Camargue, southern France

Jocelyn Champagnon, Matthieu Guillemain, Michel Gauthier-Clerc, Jean-Dominique Lebreton & Johan Elmberg

Recent trends in the number of hunters and the harvest of wildfowl in the Camargue, France: preliminary results	192
Jean-Yves Mondain-Monval, Anthony Olivier & Aubin Le Bihan

Wildlife health

Spatial and temporal analysis of the highly pathogenic avian influenza H5N1 outbreak in the Dombes area, France, in 2006	202
--	-----

Delphine Doctrinal, Sandrine Ruetten, Jean Hars, Marc Artois & Dominique J. Bicot

Avian influenza surveillance: on the usability of FTA [®] cards to solve biosafety and transport issues	215
--	-----

Robert H.S. Kraus, Pim van Hooft, Jonas Waldenström, Neus Latorre-Margalef, Ronald C. Ydenberg & Herbert H.T. Prins

Papers presented at the symposium and published elsewhere	224
--	-----

Wildfowl: Instructions for Authors	226
--	-----